

Professor Felice Eugenio Agrò

Professor Felice Eugenio Agrò is Full Professor of Anaesthesia and Intensive Care, Chairman of the Postgraduate School of Anaesthesia and Intensive Care and Director of the Department of Anaesthesiology, Intensive Care and Pain Management at the University School of Medicine Campus Bio-Medico of Rome, Italy.

For about ten years, he remained in office of Medical Director and Director of Health Strategy & Business Development Department.

He is author and editor of numerous publications and medical books, the most recent of which has been published in August 2012, "Body Fluid Management: From Physiology to Therapy" by Springer. He also reviews manuscripts of Critical Care Medicine, Anesthesiology, Journal of Clinical Anesthesia, European Journal of Emergency Medicine etc.

He is frequently chairman and speaker in eminent national and international conferences and, finally, he is yearly chairman of Masters, Workshops and Training Courses.

Prof. Agro is also credited with some noteworthy inventions:

- *Seeing Extraglottic Device (SED):
a new supraglottic airway device.*
- *Tracheotomy Tube (TT):
a conduit for ventilation and airway protection.*
- *Mannequin For Medical Training (MMT):
a mannequin representing human adults with real motions.*
- *Anti-Sleep Glasses (ASG):
a device to prevent falling asleep while driving a vehicle.*
- *Alcohol Detector Glasses (ADG):
provide a security system for the individual driving a vehicle under the influence of alcohol.*
- *Sodium 2-Mercaptoethane sulfonate:
for use in the treatment of the lumbar pain.*

Prof. Agro's main research interests concern the area of Mannequin for medical training courses, Mechanical Ventilation in Anesthesia and Intensive Care, Pain Management and Body Fluid Management.

Since 2002, he has been Member of the Book of Experts of the Ministry of Education, University and Research.

In 2008, the President of the Italian Republic conferred the medal of Commander to the Order of Merit of the Italian Republic to Prof. Agrò.