

Prof. Dr. Barbara Friesenecker

Dr. Barbara Friesenecker is a Professor at the Department of General and Surgical Intensive Care Medicine, Medical University, Innsbruck, Austria.

She graduated from the University of Innsbruck Medical School in 1991 and worked as a postdoc at the Department of Bioengineering, University of California, San Diego from 1991 till 1994. She underwent her residency training in Anaesthesia and General Intensive care medicine from 1994 till 2000 in Innsbruck. She received her Diploma in Emergency Medicine in 2001. In 2007, she attained her Professorship in Anesthesiology and General Intensive Care Medicine.

She is an active member in several European Societies and was the recipient of Fellowship J00912-MED, Austria. She is also a reviewer of BMC Emergency Medicine, Critical Care Forum, British Journal of Anesthesia and SNF.

She has 49 publications to her credit. Assoc Prof. Friesenecker's main research interest is in the area of Microcirculation: Micro-Hemodynamics and Oxygen Transport, Sepsis, Blood Substitutes and Clotting system.