

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Matthias Jacob

Dr. Matthias Jacob is an Associate Professor of Anaesthesiology at the Ludwig Maxmillian University Hospital, Munich, Germany.

He studied medicine from 1991 to 1997 and completed his dissertation in 1998. Since 2003 he is a Consultant and obtained his Habilitation in 2009 at the Medical University hospital in Munich.

He has 66 publications, to his credit and has collaborated with 57 co-authors. Assoc. Prof. Jacob's main research interest is in the area of biology of the endothelial surface layer in the context of fluid and volume therapy and intravascular volume effects of infusion preparations.