

Professor Robert Sümpelmann

Dr. Robert Sümpelmann is a Professor at the Clinic of Anaesthesiology and Intensive Care Medicine, Medical High School Hanover, Germany.

He graduated from the University of Münster, Germany in 1986 and underwent his training in Anaesthesia, Intensive Care and Emergency Medicine from 1987 till 1992. Thereafter he specialised in Paediatric Anaesthesia & Paediatric Cardiac Anaesthesia and is senior physician in the children's hospital of the Medical High School Hanover, since 1994.

He has more than 57 publications, to his credit and has collaborated with more than 50 co-authors. He has authored numerous book chapters and papers in peer reviewed journals and is an active member of the German working group for Paediatric Anaesthesia.

Prof. Sümpelmann's main research interest is in the area of volume replacement, massive transfusion, cardiocirculatory monitoring, management of cardiopulmonary bypass and fast track anaesthesia in children.