

Welcome Message

It is my great pleasure and honor to welcome you to the First European Advanced Fluid Therapy Conference.

The administration of intravenous fluids is one of the most common and important therapeutic practices in the treatment of surgical, medical and critically ill patients. The need for training and education of Fluids Management in sepsis and trauma will be emphasized through two workshops at the end of the meeting. The Conference has attracted Anaesthetists, Intensivists, Emergency Physicians and health care professionals with interests in fluid therapy.

This Conference is organized by the B. Braun in partnership with the Aesculap Academy. The Aesculap Academy enjoys a worldwide reputation for medical training of physicians, senior nursing staff as well as anesthesia, ward and hospital management staff. B. Braun and Aesculap Academy have contributed very much in spreading knowledge about Fluid Management in Asia and have directed numerous events.

Following the success achieved in Asia, they want to share their good Asian experience here in Europe, by organizing the First European Advanced Fluid Therapy Conference in one of the most beautiful cities of the Mediterranean Sea, Palermo.

Palermo is renowned for its typical good Mediterranean weather, its history, culture, architecture and gastronomy, and hope you have some spare time to enjoy it.

You have a challenging programme ahead of you thanks to the diligence of the scientific committee. I am sure that the selected topics will provide many opportunities for you to discuss.

I wish you a very fruitful Conference as well as a happy and enjoyable stay in this beautiful capital of Sicily, Palermo.
